“Brother John,
I’ve got a surprise
for you.”

Brother John certainly does have a surprise in store for him. It’s a Crumar Toccata. Now, he can take this 30 pound miracle anywhere he wants to shake a rafter...or move the most sinister crowd to get religion.

The B-3 “tone wheel” sound combined with the rotary speaker effect (that speeds up and slows down just like the real thing) can let you whisper like an angel, or rumble and shout great exaltations.

The 49 notes praise the most popular drawbar settings, memorized by the illuminated presets. The percussion is as solid as the Gospel. And, with one hand operation, it’ll leave the other hand free, to cover your other keyboards for a powerful musical mix.

So, whether you play Rock & Roll or Rock of Ages, let Crumar convert you to the Toccata. Who knows...you may attract a whole new following.

THE CRUMAR TOCCATA

The Toccata has a suggested retail of $1095.
