

Why God gave keyboard players only 10 fingers.

Ever wish you had four hands instead of two? Imagine the incredible arpeggios. And all the new ways to split and layer your keyboards. Not to mention dazzling new riffs that are humanly musical, never mechanical.

Great in theory. But in practice, God knows 10 fingers are hard enough to train, control, and keep in shape. That's why Oberheim created a whole series of revolutionary PerF/X MIDI Performance Effects™—to take care of things that extra human hands could do. Plus a lot of things they can't do.

Introducing the Cyclone.™

Give all your MIDI synthesizers a central "live" arpeggiator that's fully flexible and programmable. The Cyclone arpeggiates in any rhythm, any combination of inversions, assignable to any part of each keyboard. "Live" because the Cyclone will store tempo and feel from real-time human "tap," footswitch, or external trigger.

Which means you can even use the Cyclone as a "human trigger" for all your MIDI gear.

The Cyclone is also an amazing source of happy accidents—processing ideas you didn't even know you had into fresh-sounding riffs and parts that store for live performance. Invisible hands, with a head start from 32 factory programs.

Introducing the Systemizer.™

Forget limitations on keyboard splits, layers, and even the number of voices. The Systemizer transforms your individual synthesizers into one big instrument. So you can use sounds from anything in your MIDI set-up to create new textures while splitting each keyboard 3 ways. You can even combine, for example, a 12-voice and 16-voice synth to create a 28-voice keyboard.

"Floating Splits" actually follow your hand movements. And "Auto Patch" randomly creates and auditions new composite patches from different synths.

Once you find the magic, the Systemizer stores 32 different multi-synth set-ups for instant recall—including patch combinations, volume, controller settings, and splits.

PerF/X MIDI Performance Effects are an incredibly affordable way to turn your MIDI set-up into a whole new experience. So if you've only got 10 fingers, get down to an Oberheim dealer and shake hands with the Cyclone and the Systemizer.
